Safety Guidelines Distributed Yes Reviewed Yes

Type of work performed: TY-Vex wrap, siding, cedar corners & trim, soffit, exterior window (one door) installation, sub-floor under layment, etc.

Comment on parking arrangements: the campground with full hookups (50 amp/water/sewer) for a discounted rate of $13/day was arranged by the affiliate was quite adequate except for the dust, potholes, etc.

Comment on construction supervision: excellent in knowledge and leadership of our team.

What could the affiliate have done to make the build more effective? Overall, tools were good, but a little more scaffolding with platforms would have been handy.

Problems or concerns expressed by team members: Most had slight problems acclimating to the heat (upper 90's), dry atmosphere (5+%), combined with the altitude.

Accidents & injuries: none beyond hit fingers and time outs for overheating.

Highlights of build: The "Day" spent working with 32 bicyclists. The "bike build" group of young (average age 22) people was very gratifying and enjoyable.

Names of recommended future team leaders: Langenfelts and Mangums

Other comments: The affiliate provided church leaders for morning devotions (except for two mornings that we provided). They even had a leader from the Jewish community in difference for two team members of that faith. Good and plentiful lunches were provided. Also, the affiliate provided free tickets for the local baseball team and to the Heritage Trails Museum, which was of great historical interest.
